

David is much more than simply another accountant. Since Ben Line Agencies first approached me to start up an Australian branch office in Nov 17, I asked David from Custodian Backoffice to help. From a previous business interest, I knew with David's extensive commercial expertise, strategic thinking and deep maritime industry knowledge I could count on him to make this process easy and stress free, allowing me to focus on getting the operation running.

Custodian Backoffice provide a full suite of VCFO services to Ben Line, budgeting, forecasting, reporting and cashflow management. We know that as we scale and grow that Custodian Backoffice will be by our side providing the support and guidance.

It is good to have someone who asks those difficult questions, which we often don't want to hear but are important for us to remain focused on building our business without being caught up in the day to day. David takes an interest in our business as if it was his own.

David has a passion for what he does, this is not just another day another dollar approach to our business and he is someone we know we can trust.
